

← Job Openings

Business Analyst

Apply for This Job

• Perth, Western Australia

Employment Type Minimum Experience
Full-Time Experienced

Want to deliver tech with purpose, with people who care?

Join us and develop cutting-edge software solutions that help keep children safe online.

What's the opportunity?

Our Business Analysts and Product Owners are an essential part of our business goal of protecting children's digital journey's. They provide the business and product improvement changes, they are the link between technology and the business. Our Business Analysts are never bored and are constantly challenged to help our business grow, improve and achieve the results we want. Working across a hybrid delivery model we utilise Waterfall and Agile, Scrum delivery models.

Here's how you'll do it:

- Championing and owning business process improvement, project initialisation, running workshops and being a major influencer across our actions around Cyber Safety
- Helping to develop organisational change management, communications and training plans
- Documentation and knowledge management
- Presenting at key internal meeting and hosting presentations across our project activities
- Delivering training for end users and support teams alike
- It will be desirable if you have a strong understanding of key cyber security technologies, threat vectors and frameworks - not essential.

This role will suit someone with demonstrated experience in developing business requirements in an IT environment and demonstrated experience in delivering organisational change management activities as part of enabling Technology products and services.

Who are we?

We are a technology company that exists to protect and support every child's digital journey. Leveraging our industry-leading technology, we are currently protecting 18,000 schools and 10 million students worldwide. We've grown fast - we're ASX-listed (FZO: AX) and currently have 350 people. Our headquarter is in Perth with operations in Sydney, Melbourne, US (San Diego-CA, Orlando-FL, and Charlotte-NC), New Zealand and now also in the UK. We're all proud of our incredible journey so far...and the best is yet to come. That's where you come in!

What will you bring?

- Good, solid recent work 5+ years experience as a Business Analyst across Industry with a focus on delivering technology focused projects.
- You will have experience in requirements gathering, business improvement, business process analysis/modelling, process mapping and information analysis/modelling, planning, design, testing and system integration.
- Experience mapping business requirements and processes to the functionality of a product whilst identifying gaps and opportunities.
- Experience in managing information requirements in line with approved internal processes around documentation.
- High level analytical skills and organizational skills with good attention to detail and ability to think laterally and conceptually.
- Highly effective client liaison, change management and facilitation skills.
- Demonstrated experience working in a collaborative environment of high performing teams with high priority deliverables under tight timeframes and balancing competing priorities.
- Experience in end-to-end delivery of major business systems projects.

You'll have:

- Good experience in Scrum, Agile
- High level Documentation and Governance

Why choose Linewize by Family Zone?

In this role, you can expect:

- Employee Share Scheme
- Zone Out Days
- Tech Allowance
- and much more

More importantly you'll:

- Deliver tech with purpose...

As a Business Analyst, your work truly matters. You will empower our Technical team to delivery technology that makes a real difference to help children stay safe online. It feels good to do good.

- With people who care...

Our Business Analysts are amazing! They're also amazingly supportive. We all take ownership of our work, end to end. And at the same time, we really care about growing and winning together.

- Through work that you love...

You'll get to work on multiple projects, each one very different from the last where your knowledge in Agile and Scrum will help us to delivery these projects in a fast-paced and supportive learning environment.

- And a career that you own...

This role offers so many opportunities to expand your skills and grow your career. You'll get to attend training, events and conferences, paid for by us. And as you step up and take ownership to make things happen, you'll carve out an incredible career.

We'd love to hear from you. Please submit your application if you would like to be considered for this opportunity. At this stage we are only accepting applications from those with full Australian working rights.

Shortlisting will commence immediately.

Apply for This Job